Windstream (formally NuVox Communications) has been our telecommunications service provider for over 9 years. We've experienced very few technical issues throughout the years, and any service needs have been addressed in a prompt and courteous manner. We've opted to remain with Windstream through several renewal terms after evaluating other providers, alternative proposals and our experience with Windstream.

I would not hesitate to recommend Windstream to any business customer seeking reliable, innovative and cost effective telecommunications services.
